

A Mad Hatter's Tea Party

The Foulden Road Mad Hatter's tea party was held on Saturday 9th May. The tea party and sale of works donated by contemporary artists was organised to raise funds for the Friends of University College London Hospital

All the works were for sale at £50 each, nothing was signed, the work anonymous, purchased only on the grounds that the buyer liked the work and wanted to help support the on-going work of Friends of UCLH.

Participating artists included: Miranda Argyle, Peter Blake, Rosemary Clunie, Liz Collini, Vera Freire, Marcelle Hanselaar, Ceri House, Patrick Hughes, Kate Hunt, Diana Kerswell, Jenny Leach, James Mackinnon, Frances Newman and Philip Smith.

A variety of homemade cakes, biscuits and scones were also on offer to visitors, with Humpty Dumpty and his young assistant collecting donations for those partaking of the refreshments.

Eight of the works were sold on the day and the specially made Humpty Dumpty collection teapot seemed to be attracting a good number of donations.

With an on-line catalogue to assist with publicising the event it is hoped that we may sell a few more works: See www.francesnewman.com
